

We're modernizing communications between dental professionals & products companies.

AUTO-LOCATE & CONNECT

vTail makes it super simple for dental teams to get hold of the right person in the moment that matters.

No more 1-800 numbers or business cards. Dentists on vTail select from registered companies, and from each they will see a tailored list of assigned sales and clinical support contacts based on location and areas of clinical interest.

PRODUCT NEWS & INFO

vTail gives dental professionals instant access to a searchable database of products from all the major dental manufacturers & distributors. Product codes, datasheets, IFUs, training videos. Anytime, anywhere. The in-app newsfeed, notifications & educational content will drive value for clinicians & companies alike.

SUPPORT, COLLABORATION & FEEDBACK

From these items, dentists can communicate with their assigned company employees right within the app - by texts, audio & video calls, & file-sharing. It's their call.

Dentists on vTail get to separate their business and personal communications, and can relax knowing they're using a HIPAA-enabled secure platform with no risk of unwanted inbound calls.

An important part of being a dental professional is a ongoing awareness & use of the latest products & technologies.

But dentists told us that getting hold of the right people and information at product companies can be a real hassle. And companies have been struggling to get their field-based teams & digital content in front of dentists in a cost-effective way.

The solution? vTail. It's a brand new mobile app designed to modernize communication & collaboration between dental professionals & dental products companies.

By making the process of reaching out super-simple for time-poor dental teams, vTail is set to increase frequency & quality of engagement with product companies - for whom the platform represents an exciting new communications channel.
